

Chicks for Charity and Dr. Frank Barone raise funds for The Victory Center

Chicks for Charity hostess Joyce Rimmelin poses with the "Doctor" at Evolv Medical Aesthetics.

Chicks for Charity together with Dr. Frank Barone, a board certified and nationally recognized plastic surgeon, recently hosted a standing-room-only event at Evolv Medical Aesthetics, 2000 Regency

Court. Topics discussed included preventing sun damage and how nutrition affects the skin.

Medical aestheticians, massage therapists and other professional staff supplemented the presentation. They demonstrated permanent cosmetics, superficial chemical peeling and mineral makeup.

Chicks for Charity hostess Cheryl Fisher was given a complimentary Visia complexion analysis and fellow hostess Jamie Hilborn received a mineral make-up lesson with cosmetics available at Evolv. Joyce Rimmelin, a Chick hostess, showed off her permanent cosmetics recently done at Evolv. Ms. Rimmelin, whose birthday was that day, was surprised with cupcakes from "Cake in a Cup." Heidelberg Distributing donated wine for the event.

Dr. Barone donated 20% of the evening's proceeds to The Victory Center, the 2009 designated recipient for donations by Chicks for Charity. Additionally, Dr. Barone will donate 10% from the sale of products purchased by Chick for Charity members though Dec. 31, 2009.

One lucky guest received a massage therapy gift certificate and all guests received a gift bag provided by Evolv.
